Paula Goncalves will serve as Director, Business Development for Australia and New Zealand. In this role, Goncalves will have responsibility for the development of new business relationships between SAP(R) Business One partners and CitiXsys Technologies. Goncalves will be responsible for all Australia and New Zealand revenue, and head the Consulting and Channel Development teams. She will be based at the company's Sydney headquarters.

Goncalves joins CitiXsys from Microsoft, where she was involved in Business Development for the FRx range of solutions. She has 12 years of experience in Software Business Applications for the Tier II and the upper Tier III segment of the market.

John Greenaway will serve as Director, Business Development for the UK and Ireland, and will have responsibility for the development of new business relationships between SAP(R) Business One partners and CitiXsys Technologies. Greenaway will be responsible for all UK and Ireland revenue, and head the Consulting and Channel Development teams. He will be based at the company's UK headquarters.

Greenaway joins CitiXsys from Epicor, where he was involved in Strategic Direct Sales and Channel Partnerships. He has over 15 years direct and channel sales experience in software solution sales in the UK and in overseas markets.

"We are delighted that Paula and John are joining CitiXsys Technologies as we build our global software and services business. They are important additions to our management team," commented Mark Richardson, Vice President of Global Operations for CitiXsys. "With their expertise in commercial software and services and channel management, CitiXsys will continue to expand our operations and relationships with the SAP community, bringing the highest quality products and professional services to partners and customers."
